WILLIAM BENDIX

Stars in

"THE GAZEBO"

"THE GAZEBO", Broadway's long-run comedy hit, which has delighted playgoers across the land, will be presented at the Cape Playhouse next week, beginning Monday, July 30, with a glittering cast headed by William Bendix. Strongly identified with his long-standing leading role in "The Life of Riley" television series, Mr. Bendix is famed for his stage and screen roles, including Queeg in the Broadway production of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," and as an earthy character player in such outstanding motion pictures as "The Hairy Ape," "Lifeboat," and "The Glass Key." Hailed as Irresistible fun, Alec Coppel's play concerns a jovial writer of television mysteries who finds himself involved in the harum-scarum murder of a blackmailer threatening his wife. Tickets may be reserved or purchased at the box office during the first intermission of tonight's play, or by calling EVergreen 5-3911.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Sumner Arthur Long, a native of Boston, Mass., joined the United States Navy at the age of 19 just in time to be at Pearl Harbor on the fateful attack. After spending five years in the Pacific he was discharged from the Navy, and it was during this time he started to write. Building a shack on the dunes at Provincetown, he pursued his career there for three years and, after that, went west to Hollywood where he sold an original story to Columbia Pictures. He was subsequently hired as a screenwriter. Mr. Long now lives in California with his wife Beaulah, also a writer, and has son, Robbe. He was very proud of the fact that his daughter is married and can possibly make him a grandfather by the time he is forty-two.

WHY THEY CHOSE CAPE COD

Mr. Stokes is New England representative for a hosiery manufacturer. "I find living on the Cape refreshes me for my work," he says.

"We Wanted to Get our Roots Down Early"

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Stokes moved to the Cape in November, 1961. "Even though I am a long way from retirement," said Mr. Stokes, "We decided that now is the time to get our roots down in a part of the country we both love. I have been in every state of the Union, and you can't beat the Cape. My wife and I love the water and I like to hunt and fish. It's only an hour and a half to downtown Boston, and it's worth the commuting to live here.

"Last winter was our first and we were surprised at the amount of social and civic activity. It's really no different than any community in that respect. We wish we had made the move five years ago."

Mr. Stokes is typical of many who find they can enjoy the wonderful living on Cape Cod and still remain active in business. With improved roads and good air transportation, men who travel or are within practical commuting distance from their place of business, find the Cape has much to offer in well-rounded family living.

If you are of retirement age, you will find many congenial people with common interests.

Why not look into Cape Cod as your home? Write us, giving preference as to area and family requirements.

Free booklet, "A Wonderful Way of Life", tells you more about the many advantages of Cape Cod living.

Who's Who in the Cast

PAUL FORD (Harry) who is known throughout this country as the wonderfully hilarious Colonel Hall, Phil Silver's Commanding officer on the Sgt. Bilko television series, began his career, ironically as it seems, at the age of 35 in a play that paid him $3.00 a week. After producing and operating a puppet show at the New York World's Fair, and later performing in off-Broadway shows at no salary, he found his way into radio and, within a year, he was doing more than 15 radio programs a week. This eventually led to his first important break, a role in the Broadway production of "Decision" by Edward Chodorov. Since then, he has appeared on Broadway in "Tea House of the August Moon," "Another Part of the Forest," "Kiss Them For Me," "Good As Gold," "Command Decision," the national company of "Death of A Salesman," the musical "Whoop-Up," "Thurber Carnival," which won him some of the most ecstatic critical acclaim ever bestowed on an actor, and the recent award-winning musical, "The Music Man," to mention a few. In addition to his famous role on the Sgt. Bilko Show, he has appeared on all major television shows. A leading motion picture star as well, he has appeared in a succession of hit films since 1946, a partial list of which includes: "The House On 92nd Street," "Naked City," "All The King's Men," "Tea House of the August Moon," "Missouri Traveler," "The Matchmaker," and the current releases, "The Music Man" and "Advise and Consent." Mr. Ford, who lives in New York, is the father of five children and the grandfather of thirteen.

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN (Edith) has simultaneously carried on two careers in Hollywood, that of a successful film star and, in private life, the mother of seven children. Born in Roscommon, a town in the west of Ireland, Miss O'Sullivan was just seventeen when she met American film director Frank Borzage at a party in Dublin and was offered a role in "Song In My Heart," starring the Irish tenor, John McCormack. Since then, she has played in more than seventy motion pictures. Best remembered among these would be: "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," her favorite; "Anna Karenia" with Greta Garbo; "Payment Deferred" with Charles Laughton and Ray Milland; "A Yank at Oxford" with Robert Taylor and Vivien Leigh; "David Copperfield," "Fanny" and "Port of Seven Seas" with Wallace Berry; "Pride and Prejudice," "The Voice of Bugle Ann" with Lionel Barrymore; and, of course, four famous "Tarzan pictures with Johnny Weismuller. Miss O'Sullivan has been married to John Farrow, a writer-director-producer, since 1926 and, because of his film production activities, has been living abroad for the past few years. She speaks both French and Spanish fluently and, while in Europe, made television appearances in England and Spain. Fred Astaire was responsible for luring Miss O'Sullivan back to acting in this country following a prolonged voluntary retirement. She subsequently played the principal feminine role in one of Astaire's first Alcoa Presents Shows, "Moment of Decision." Most recently Mr. Farrow encouraged his wife to write a series of children's stories and fairy tales which have been recorded for radio transcriptions. She and her family reside in Beverly Hills, California, where she is active in civic and charitable organizations.

RICHARD MULLIGAN (Charles) recently appeared on Broadway in the Pulitzer Prize play, "All the Way Home," in which he portrayed the role of Jay Follet and subsequently, Andrew Lynch. His other roles include the title character in "The Great God Brown," presented in Boston, Mass., the Gentleman Caller in Williams' "Glass Menagerie," Sammy, the drunk in O'Casey's "Pound On Demand," and John Proctor in Miller's, "The Crucible." His television assignments include The Defenders, Dupont Show of the Month and Sunday Showcase. Beginning his theatrical career as a playwright, Mr. Mulligan entered a resident theatre in Miami, Florida searching for a production of one of his plays. The director, assuming he was an actor, auditioned him for the role of Andy Mays in O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon." He won the part and his performance received critical praise. A resident of New York, he has trained under Lee Strasberg.
